

WORK OF CONGRESS AT THIS SESSION

REVIEW OF BUSINESS TRANS- ACTED AT THE CAPITAL

Dingley Bill Is Now a Law—Passed By the Senate Saturday Afternoon and Immediately Signed by the President—Vote in Detail—Reed Appoints Committees.

Washington, July 26.—The extraordinary session of congress which has just closed was called by President McKinley two days after he took the oath of office on the steps of the capitol. It met in pursuance to his proclamation at noon March 15. The special message transmitted by him to both houses on the opening day was brief. It explained the deficiency in the revenues, reviewed the bond issues of the last administration, and urged congress promptly to correct the existing condition by passing a tariff bill that would supply ample revenues for the support of the government and the liquidation of the public debt. No other subject of legislation was mentioned in the message, and the tariff bill has been the all-absorbing feature of the session.

The Republican members of the ways and means committee of the preceding house had been at work throughout the short session which ended March 4, giving hearings and preparing the bill which was to be submitted at the extra session. Three days after the session opened the tariff bill was reported to the house by the ways and means committee, and thirteen days later, March 31, it passed the house.

The bill then went to the senate, referred to the committee on finance, and the Republican members of that committee spent a month and three days in its consideration, and in preparing amendments, which were submitted to the senate May 7. Exactly two months later, July 7, it passed the senate with 872 amendments.

The bill then went to conference, where, after a ten days' struggle, on July 17, a complete agreement was reached, by which the senate receded from 118 amendments, and the house from 511. The others, 243 in number, were compromised. The conference report was adopted by the house July 19 at the conclusion of twelve hours' continuous debate. The report was taken up in the senate July 20, and adopted July 24. The tariff bill was signed by the President the same day. The senate, not being confined as to the scope of its legislation, dealt with a number of important subjects, both in and out of executive session.

One of these, which attracted world-wide attention, was the general arbitration treaty negotiated by President Cleveland with Great Britain. After exhaustive consideration, despite the great pressure brought to bear upon the senate by religious and commercial bodies throughout the country, the senate rejected the treaty.

The Hawaiian treaty of annexation, negotiated by President McKinley, was still unacted upon when congress adjourned.

In open session after much debate the senate passed the Cuban belligerency resolution, a bankruptcy bill, including both voluntary and involuntary features, and the "free homes" bill. None of these important questions received consideration in the house.

The Republican leaders of the house decided at the opening of the session to pursue a policy of inaction in order to throw the responsibility for delaying the tariff bill upon the senate. Therefore the committees were not announced until the close of the session and only urgent matters were considered.

DINGLEY BILL IS LAW.

Passed by the Senate and Approved by the President.

Washington, July 27.—Washington is fast becoming depopulated of politicians. When the President starts on his vacation Wednesday the exodus will be complete, and the national capital will settle down to the humdrum monotony of the summer season. The passage of the tariff bill, the disposition of the currency commission bill and the adjournment of congress have brought a feeling of relief in all circles. The tariff bill passed its last legislative stage at 3 p. m. Saturday, when the senate, by a vote of 40 to 30, agreed to the conference report on the bill. The final vote on the tariff conference report and the bill was as follows:

Yeas: Republicans—Aldrich, Allison, Baker, Burrows, Carter, Clark, Davis, Deboe, Elkins, Fairbanks, Foraker, Frye, Gallinger, Gear, Hale, Hansborough, Hawley, Hoar, Lodge, McBride, McMillan, Mason, Morrill, Nelson, Penrose, Perkins, Platt (Conn.), Platt (N. Y.), Pritchard, Proctor, Quay, Sewell, Shoup, Spooner, Thurston, Warren, Wetmore. Populists—Jones (Nev.), Stewart. Democrat—McEnery—Total 40.

Nays: Democrats—Bacon, Bate, Berry, Caffery, Chilton, Clay, Cockrell, Daniel, Faulkner, Gorman, Lindsay, Jones (Ark.), Mallory, Martin, Mills, Mitchell, Morgan, Murphy, Pasco, Pettus, Roach, Smith, Tillman, Turley, Turner, Turpie, Vest.

Waltham, White. Populist—Harris—Total 30.

Pairs: For—Chandler, Cullom, Wolcott, Hanna, Wellington, Mantle, Wilson, Against—Cannon, Gray, George, Rawlins, McLaughlin, Kenney, Heitfeld, Not voting—Allen, Butler, Teller, Absent—Kyle, Pettigrew.

The last step necessary to make the Dingley tariff bill the law of the land was taken at the white house when the President affixed his signature at 4:04 o'clock.

The failure to pass the currency commission bill is not regarded even by the President as a serious detriment. The commission was only intended to give consideration to the subject of currency laws and make recommendations to the President and the secretary of the treasury. Few believe that it would have been of practical benefit.

Reed Names Committees.

Washington, July 26.—Speaker Reed late Saturday night announced the house committees. The committees on ways and means, accounts and mileage were announced at the beginning of the session.

Summer Hotel Burned.

Utica, N. Y., July 26.—Fire soon after midnight Sunday morning almost completely destroyed the Spring house at Richfield Springs, only a small part of the western corner being left standing. At the time there were 160 guests in the house, seventy of them from New York and Philadelphia, and ten employees of the hotel. Every person in the building, as far as known, escaped. It is probable that T. R. Proctor, the proprietor of the hotel, will replace the burned structure with a brick building. The loss is estimated at $200,000; insurance, $73,000.

Rains Damage Crops.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 26.—The heavy rains of Thursday, Friday and Saturday last did a vast amount of damage to the farmers of central New York. The principal sufferers are in the towns of Sullivan, Madison county; Cicero, Manlius and Lafayette, Onondaga county. It is estimated that crops to the amount of $500,000 have been destroyed. Reports show that nine bridges were washed away in various places.

German Epworth League.

Cincinnati, O., July 26.—The German Epworth League of the United States closed its convention here by a mass meeting at Pike's Opera House Sunday afternoon, at which Rev. E. F. Stroeter delivered an address on "Israel and the Nations." Sunday nearly all pulpits in Cincinnati and vicinity were filled by representatives of the league, and at night religious services were held in three German churches.

Annual Christian Encampment.

Eureka, Ill., July 26.—Delegates began arriving today to attend the thirteenth annual Christian encampment of Illinois. It is expected that every portion of the state will be represented and that many prominent men of the church will be present from adjoining states. The meeting includes the conventions of a number of the organizations of the Christian church of Illinois.

Spiritualists Go Into Camp.

Anderson, Ind., July 26.—The seventh annual camp meeting of the Indiana Spiritualists opened Sunday with a large attendance from all parts of Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. Two excursion trains run to the grounds were well filled. The attendance is the largest it has ever been on the opening Sunday. Five hundred are camping on the grounds.

Would Fight a Duel.

London, July 26.—The Daily Mail's Rome correspondent says General Albertone, chief of the Italian prisoners who were recently released from confinement in Abyssinia, has issued a challenge to a duel to Prince Henry of Orleans on account of the charges of cowardice made by the latter against the Italian officers in the Abyssinian campaign.

Louisiana Greatly to Benefit.

New Orleans, July 26.—Leon Godchaux, the largest sugar planter in Louisiana, is well pleased at the business prospect of Louisiana. With the protection given sugar, lumber and rice, he thinks Louisiana labor will be vastly benefited, and the state will be more prosperous under the Dingley bill than it has ever been.

Death in an Explosion.

Punxsutawney, Pa., July 26.—A boiler explosion in the sawmill of Kipp & Kiser at Cortez killed Pete Duff and seriously injured ten others. The mill is badly wrecked. A fourteen-foot piece of a sixteen-foot boiler was blown a distance of 400 feet. Two hundred men will be thrown out of work.

Meeting of Illinois Firemen.

Monmouth, Ill., July 26.—The ninth annual tournament of the Illinois State Firemen's Association will be held here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. A big crowd is expected and extensive arrangements are being made for the reception of the firemen and other guests.

Bryan Speaks in Idaho.

Shoshone, Idaho, July 26.—William J. Bryan and party will be guests of Mr. I. B. Perrine for a few days before leaving for the National park. Mr. Bryan was welcomed on his arrival here by the largest gathering ever seen in Shoshone. He spoke for three-quarters of an hour.

END OF THE STRIKE IS NOT IN SIGHT

PARTIES STILL FAR FROM SETTLEMENT.

Arbitration Not Likely to Accomplish Anything—Hope of Any Success in That Direction Is About Abandoned—Kansas Miners May Strike—Illinois Farmers in Trouble

Pittsburg, Pa., July 26.—The man who thinks he can see the finish of the coal miners' strike by arbitration is either very far-sighted or of an extremely sanguine temperament.

The arbiters assert that their efforts for a settlement that will please all parties will be successful. They say they are now waiting for the meeting of the big coal operators to be held in this city Tuesday, when the question of uniformity will be discussed. If the operators agree upon this the rest will be easy. As a matter of fact, it is pretty generally believed now that the question of uniformity was injected into the strike problem simply to delay matters among the operators. There are several whose men are working at a low rate, while the price of coal is continually increasing, and will continue to do so as long as the strike lasts.

The district officials of the Miners' union do not seem to rely upon arbitration, although they express themselves as friendly to it, as a matter of fact. They place more reliance as an omen of victory upon the news from West Virginia, where the union missionaries are meeting with very fair success in getting out the men.

The meeting of miners in the district at Scottsdale on Tuesday and the meeting of labor leaders at Wheeling Wednesday are looked upon as important features of the strike at this time. Should the Westmoreland miners come out there are fears of serious trouble at De Armit's mines.

The destitution among the men is beginning to be apparent. Secretary Warren has been very busy providing supplies for families in several parts of the district.

Nothing was done in the way of arbitration Sunday. The commissioners rested, and expect to accomplish considerable today. They will endeavor to enlist more of the river operators, and have every reason to hope that they will be successful.

KANSAS MINERS MAY STRIKE.

Delegates from Illinois Try to Induce Them to Quit Work.

Pittsburg, Kan., July 26.—The mine operators at Saturday's meeting claimed they had unmistakable evidence that the Illinois strikers had sent about fourteen delegates here to agitate a strike in all of the important mines. The delegates came quietly and dealt with the delegates selected by the several mines to the convention only.

The strong argument the agitators used with the Kansas miners was that Kansas holds the key to the situation westward; and if Kansas went out the railroads would bring the operators to time.

Operators say that it will make no difference whether Kansas, with only 10,000 miners, goes out or stays in, but the miners see in the extra work and storing of coal that is going on a desire on the part of the operators to fortify themselves against a strike. They are also suspicious that coal from Kansas mines is to be smuggled into strike territory.

Thinks Miners Will Win.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 26.—J. Smith Talley, president of the State Operators' association, says he is now of the opinion the strike will be long-drawn out, but in the end the miners will win. The fact that the southern Illinois miners are coming out leads him to believe that there are exceptional conditions which will result in success for the organizers who are trying to get the miners of West Virginia to strike. With the West Virginia miners out he does not see anything in the way of an interstate scale, such as the men are striving to have adopted.

Thrashers Are Short of Coal.

Bloomington, Ill., July 26.—A very serious aspect of the coal strike in Central Illinois is presented in the fact that the oats harvest is at its height and there is not a pound of coal obtainable for the thrashing. Rain falls almost every day, and it is necessary to thrash the grain quickly or stack. The farmers say it is impossible to find men who can properly stack oats, as stacking is now almost a lost art. The farmers in their dilemma threaten to make a raid on the coal which the railroads have stored along their lines.

Missouri Miners Meet.

Bevier, Mo., July 26.—At the general mass meeting of miners held here delegates to the state miners' convention, to be held in Sedalia July 27, were selected. By a vote of 88 to 65 the delegates were instructed to vote to work only three days a week until the strike in the east is settled.

Debs Talks to Coal Miners.

Fairmont, W. Va., July 26.—Debs held three good meetings at the various mines Sunday and is confident that the men will be gotten out. The general impression is that if the break is not made today it will not be made

JAPAN WILL OPPOSE ANNEXATION PLAN

LITTLE NATION WILL NOT GIVE HER CONSENT.

Plain Language Is Used—Open Declaration That a Refusal to Heed Her Protest Will Result in a Rupture of Diplomatic Relations—Secretary Sherman Firm.

Washington, July 26.—That Japan will continue to oppose the Hawaiian annexation treaty is conclusively shown by the latest protest of the Japanese government, under date of July 10, which is now made public for the first time, notwithstanding that the seal of secrecy has not yet been removed from it by either the state department or the senate committee on foreign relations, to which it was recently referred by Secretary Sherman.

While couched in polite and diplomatic language, the protest is sufficiently firm in tone to show that Japan will continue to wage a diplomatic war, and, possibly, go further, to prevent the consummation of the annexation policy.

It is impossible for Japan to "view with unconcern and in a spirit of acquiescence the consequences which would follow the extinction of Hawaiian sovereignty," the imperial government significantly declares.

This may not mean that Japan will resist annexation "to the utmost," as Count Okuma is credited with saying in a recent interview, but the general tone of the note is of a character to indicate that annexation without the "acquiescence" of Japan will mean a rupture in the relations between the two countries.

It has already been stated that it is the purpose of the administration to ignore the protest. Its receipt has been acknowledged, but the state department has concluded not to further argue the question, and President McKinley will continue to urge the ratification of the treaty, just as if the protest had never been made.

HURLED FROM A TRESTLE.

Two Coaches of Passenger Train Wrecked—Fifteen Injured.

Marietta, Ohio, July 26.—As an excursion train was returning from Zanesville, Ohio, at 9:50 o'clock Sunday night the trestle work over a bottomland three and a half miles from Marietta gave way and two of the four coaches were precipitated to a cornfield below. The coaches were filled with people, but by a miracle no one was killed. About fifteen persons were badly injured, and all were more or less bruised. Miss Nellie Purdy of this city was injured in the breast and will probably die. One of the coaches took fire and some of the passengers were singed and had their clothes burned before they could escape.

Severe Blow for Dr. Miquel.

Berlin, July 26.—Probably not since the days of Prince Bismarck has there been such an important sitting of the lower house of the Prussian diet as was that of Saturday. In order to understand the importance of the division taken it must be remembered that the lower house does not contain a single socialist member. Therefore the law of associations bill was rejected on its merits by a body of men who, although radicals, are as patriotic and loyal as the framers of the measure. The general comment is that only a Bismarck could have pushed such a bill through, and the outlook is not promising for the emperor's new man, Dr. Miquel.

Convention Adjourns.

Chicago, July 26.—The Catholic Women's Benevolent association convention ended Saturday afternoon. The contest for the position of fourth trustee was settled by the selection of Miss Alice Blaney of Buffalo, N. Y. Her opponent was Mrs. Stergert of Pittsburg. After the induction of officers the convention adjourned. The convention just closed consisted of 209 members and the cost of the gathering was about $10,000. The next convention will probably have 500 members, with a corresponding increase in the expense.

Disastrous Storms in Iowa.

Belle Plaine, Iowa, July 26.—The storm Saturday night was disastrous all through this section of Iowa. In this county the crops were severely damaged. At Springfield many buildings were blown down, the corn was badly damaged, and Daniel Doon was killed. Three and three-quarter inches of rain fell at Traer, corn suffered badly, and the hay crop almost totally ruined. Near Reinbeck seven large barns were struck by lightning and burned, a number of stock perishing in the flames.

To Make New Boundaries.

Constantinople, July 26.—It is stated that the Turkish military commission will start immediately for Thessaly to meet the Greek officers and mark out the new boundaries. It is expected that the treaty will be signed by the end of the week.

Will Accept No Compromise.

Madrid, July 26.—It is stated that Gen. Maximo Gomez, the leader of the Cuban insurgents, has reaffirmed his determination not to accept a compromise with the government, but to adhere to his demand for the absolute independence of Cuba.

SHERMAN MAY RETIRE.

Report That Whitelaw Reid Is to Be the Secretary of State.

Washington, July 26.—A report, the circulation of which is apparently inspired by the belief that prevails in diplomatic official circles that Secretary Sherman may not much longer remain at the head of the state department, is to the effect that Whitelaw Reid, editor of the New York Tribune and special ambassador to the queen's jubilee, will succeed to the portfolio of that department. No official confirmation of the report is to be obtained.

SECRETARY SHERMAN.

Mr. Reid, who is now on the ocean on his way to this country, is declared to have opened negotiations for the lease of the Washington residence of Ambassador John Hay for a number of years.

Secretary Sherman's friends deny that he is to surrender control of affairs of state and say that he will return to the city in a month to resume his official duties. This statement, however, is contrary to the general opinion that prevails in official circles.

Stockholders Must Pay.

Kansas City, Mo., July 26.—Holders of stock in the defunct Missouri National bank, which failed early this year, owing over $1,000,000 to depositors, will in a short time have to meet an assessment of 100 cents on their stock. Comptroller Eckels has been advised by Special Bank Examiner Lynch, who spent several days in this city last week, that it will take fully that amount to raise enough to pay off the claims against the bank, a very large part of the nominal assets of the bank being worthless.

To Publish Voorhees' Speeches.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 26.—Ex-Congressman Voorhees of the State of Washington and his brother, Reese Voorhees, of Washington, sons of the late Senator Voorhees, say they will soon publish a two-volume edition of the speeches and lectures which gave their father much renown. In addition there will be a biography, in which will be published for the first time many letters from prominent men in regard to affairs of national interest.

To Frame a New Currency Law.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 26.—Hugh H. Hanna, chairman of the executive committee, created by the monetary convention held in this city last January, Sunday announced that he would call the committee together, either at Chicago or Saratoga, within a week, and it would at once take up the matter of appointing a commission to frame a currency bill for presentation to congress at the beginning of the regular session.

Nominations Sent to the Pope.

Baltimore, July 26.—It is announced here that the names of Archbishop Keane, Bishop Camillus Paulmass, D. D., of Covington and Bishop Thomas Heslin, D. D., of Natchez have been sent to Rome in order that a selection may be made for a successor to the late Archbishop Janssens of New Orleans.

Testing Stockyards Charges.

Kansas City, Mo., July 26.—The Kansas City Stockyards company has been made defendant in a suit brought in the district court of Kansas City, Kas., the purpose of which is to test the validity of the new Kansas law which fixes the schedule of charges for yardage and feed at the yards.

Young Woman Murdered.

Crystal Falls, Mich., July 26.—Pearl Morrison went to visit Miss Brooks at Great Western mine Friday and did not return. A search of the woods discovered her body, torn and mangled. It is suspected that she was assaulted and strangled to death by a tramp named Peter Bunce. A posse has taken up the search for the man.

Lawyers to Meet in Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., July 26.—The annual meeting of the American Bar Association will be held here August 24, 26 and 27. This year's meeting will be marked by a number of interesting papers by lawyers of national reputation. The annual address will be delivered by Gov. John W. Griggs of New Jersey.

Insurgent Leaders Sentenced to Die.

Madrid, July 26.—A dispatch to the Imparcial from Havana says that Magueria, the insurgent leader, has been sentenced to death by a court martial.

Nordica Much Better.

London, July 26.—Mme. Lillian Nordica, the prima donna, who has been seriously ill at the Hotel Savoy for several weeks, is convalescent.

A TRAIN IS HELD BY THE WASHOUT

FIVE HUNDRED PEOPLE WERE PRISONERS.

Lived in the Coaches For Twelve Hours Between Stevens Point and Glenwood—Hotels Reaped a Harvest—Half a Mile of Track Is Gone—Storm Did Damage

Glenwood, Wis., July 26.—[Special]—The excursion train from Stevens Point to St. Paul yesterday was hung up from ten o'clock last night until ten o'clock this morning on account of a washout on the Wisconsin Central line. Five hundred people were aboard and the hotels reaped a harvest. A half mile of the track was washed out and wagon bridges were all washed away.

Honor a Hero's Widow.

Waukesha, Wis., July 26.—Mrs. John A. Logan spent Sunday here as the guest of A. M. Jones. She was met at the depot by a delegation from the local G. A. R. post and escorted to the residence of Colonel Jones. At Bethesda Spring park Mrs. Logan was enthusiastically received, shaking hands with several thousand people. She left for St. Paul at 8:40 o'clock in the evening.

Big Paper Mills Burned.

Kaukauna, Wis., July 26.—The extensive plant of the Badger Paper Company was totally destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. The loss will be $250,000, partly covered by insurance of about $200,000. The mill was one of the largest in the northwest, and was built in 1884.

THE BASEBALL REPORT.

Standing of the Clubs in the Various Leagues.

Chicago took a jump yesterday and landed two rungs nearer the top of the ladder. By winning yesterday's game from the Colonels the Colts passed Brooklyn and Louisville. Cincinnati, who now stands next to the leaders, administered two defeats in one day to the ball tossers from the "City of Churches." Philadelphia, who is leading the second division, is just two games ahead of Chicago. Baltimore defeated Cleveland in a ten-inning game yesterday, and St. Louis broke even with Washington in a double-header. Following is the standing of the clubs:

Changeable Weather.

Maine Man (finishing a story)—Yes, sir. I killed that bear with nothing but this little jackknife. Guess you never had a tussle with a bear, did ye? New York Liar—Oh, yes. I was out fishing one day on Staten island when a big bear made a rush for me and knocked the pole from my hand, leaving me without even that means of defense. Well, sir, I grabbed that bear, threw him down, and held him there until he froze to death.

Maine Man (gasping)—I might a' done that many a time myself, but the weather up our way don't change so quick as it does here.—N. Y. Weekly.

The Proof of It.

Miss Giddy—Oh, you dear girl; I've been dying to see you. Have you heard the news?

Miss Middy—No, to be sure; what is it?

Miss Giddy—I'm engaged to Charley Softy.

Miss Middy—Then it's really true that he's suffering from mental collapse. But I didn't dream it was so serious as that.—Minneapolis Journal.

"No; you can't kiss me," she said.

"I think I can," he replied, proceeding to prove his view at once.

The maiden's eyes gleamed ominously, while the young man, his bravado gone, trembled for the consequence of his audacity.

She spoke excitedly.

"You're a mean thing. That's what you are! But you can't do it again. So there!"—N. Y. Journal.

ELASTIC STARCH has been before the people of the United States for twenty-three years, and is without doubt the greatest starch invention of the Nineteenth Century. Last year its sales reached the unprecedented number of twenty million packages. It is prepared upon scientific principles by men who have had years of practical experience in laundry dyeing. It makes ironing easy, restores old summer dresses to their natural whiteness, and imparts to linen a bear tint and lasting finish. It is the only starch manufactured that is perfectly harmless, containing neither arsenic, alum, or any other substance injurious to linen, and can be used even as a baby powder.

Good Printing...

Is like good painting—it demands and obtains a second glance. The second glance leads to thought about and knowledge of the thing portrayed, and then on to the artist or advertiser.

The kind of printing as well as the kind of painting that it pays to do and to have done is that which obtains this "second glance." Plenty of the other kind!

We are PRINTERS. Our work obtains glances of admiration, and thus leads on to the end desired. We don't do the "other kind." Put our job room to the test.

GRADED UP A NEW ROAD BED

Contractor P. W. Ryan and Crew Finish a Month's Job.

Contractor P. W. Ryan and men are here from Crystal Lake and Cary, Ill., where they have been working the past month on a grading contract job for the Northwestern railroad. They graded nearly half a mile for a new track at Crystal Lake, while at Cary, they prepared a sand pit for excavation purposes. Eight teams and the following crew of men from here were given employment: Thomas Quinn, Thomas Butters, Michael Hol-loran, Thomas Fitzgerald, Matthew Burns and Albert Katmarck.

LATEST NEWS OF THE TOWN

A HOME driven by two farm hands employed on the Frost farm, in the town of La Prairie, got scared at a street car, and tipped the buggy off into the ditch near the Buob brewery yesterday afternoon. The men escaped injury, but the vehicle was wrecked.

War Still Rages in Philippine.
Madrid, July 26.—The Imparcial publishes advices from Manila showing that the insurrection continues in the Province of Cavite. The rebels surprised a Spanish column in the San Matzo mountains and the troops were put to flight after losing 200 killed and wounded.

Eyes of Children.
Great care should be taken in exposing the child's eyes to the light; see that the light does not shine directly in its eyes as it lies in the lap. The light shining into the child's eyes when it is in the baby carriage not only affects the eyes, but the nerves. The cover of the umbrella of the carriage should be dark, and it is better to have the light reach the eyes from the side rather than from above. The care of the eyes is particularly important during this first year of life. Do not stand back of the child in talking to it. The muscles of the eyes are weak, and the child is in danger of straining them in turning, and crossed eyes may be one of the results. Do not hold things too near the eyes of the child. This is a cruelty to which many children are subjected. Bright colors are all very well at a distance, but do not dangle a brightly-colored object directly in front of the eyes.

Paper Underclothing.
The Japanese are now making underclothing of their finely crimped or grained paper. After the paper has been cut to a pattern, the different parts are sewed together and hemmed and the places where the buttonholes are to be formed are strengthened with valico or linen. The stuff is very strong and at the same time very flexible. After a garment has been worn a few hours it will interfere with the transpiration of the body no more than do garments made of fabric. The stuff is not sized, nor is it impermeable. After becoming wet the paper is difficult to tear. When an endeavor is made to tear it by hand it presents almost as much resistance as the thin skin used for making gloves.—Answers.

X Ray on a Terrier.
The fox terrier is now officially registered as a transparency, the X ray shining through him like a candle through a Chinese lantern. The experiment has just been tried on an animal of this species which had swallowed a diamond ring, the trinket appearing in its midst, visible as a goldfish in a glass case or a fly in amber. The utilities of this penetrating beam may expand till it will show up other than the paltry pilferings of a terrier, perhaps even the swag of the political boss, notwithstanding the opacity of its bulk and origin.—New York Tribune.

An Improvement.
"I am trying a new brand of shaving soap, sir," remarked the barber. "How does it seem to go?"
"It's rather better than the kind you've been using lately," said the customer.
"Seems to soften up the beard better, doesn't it?"
"Yes, and then it's a change. I was getting tired of the taste of sassafras."—Chicago Journal.

Her Scriptural Training.
Did you ever notice this:
When a fellow steals a kiss
From a righteous little maiden calm and meek,
How her Scriptural training shows
In not turning up her nose,
But in simply turning round the other cheek?

A Contemptible Trick.
"My wife caught me last night.
When I come home late I usually sit down on the top step of my porch and hunt for my latch-key. She says I never get home until after midnight. I say it's before. She caught me all right last night."

The Children's : Delight,
"See-Saw."
PAT. ALLOWED JUNE 6 1896.
The most fascinating toy and pastime ever put on the market for the children. Simple and durable. Can be put up on the piazza as well as the lawn and can also be used in the parlor without the least damage to the carpet. Can be adjusted so that children of unequal weight can "teeter." Mothers can keep the little ones at home and amused for hours at a time. Prices very low—$2.00 and $4.00. See them set up at the Rink building on South River Street.

A Little More Cost Brings Big Profits.

The addressing, folding, inclosing, sealing and stamping of five thousand circulars, with postage, will cost at least $65, whether the circular is good or bad. Notwithstanding this fixed charge, some strive to save a dollar or two on the cost of printing, although the goods advertised are to be judged by the character of the printing, just as a house is judged by the character of its salesmen. Good printing costs but little more, and that "little more" brings greater returns than any other part of the cost. Order your printing where good work is assured.

USE OIL AND RAGS TO START A FIRE

INCENDIARY IGNITES THE "WHITE MARKET."

Kerosene Can and a Wash Tub Full of Soaked Cloths Found, While Holes in the Wall Were Filled With Inflammable Material—Blaze Is Controlled With a $500 Loss.

A five gallon can of kerosene, and a tub full of oil soaked rags were used by the fire bug who attempted to burn the "White Meat Market," at 60 South River streets early this morning. After making an hour's fight, the flames were finally controlled, the loss being about $500. The building is owned by the Haviland estate, the meat business is owned by M. H. Haviland, and George Ercanbrack is the manager. The building was insured for $1,200 and the contents for $300. There is no doubt but what the fire was of incendiary origin.

The blaze was a peculiar one, and clouds of suffocating smoke made it difficult to fight. The odor of kerosene was very marked, and the smoke swelled as if something beside wood was burning.

The alarm was sent in from box 18, at 1:50 o'clock, by Charles Emmons and Watchman Ed. Smith. Emmons had been driving and was watering his horse at the Riverside hotel fountain when he saw the flames. He at once notified Watchman Smith and the alarm was turned in.

Smoke Was Thick.

The department was soon at the scene, and the firemen at once saw that they had a hard fire to fight. Clouds of smoke were arising from the building and floating off into the Third ward. The smoke had a peculiar odor, as well as a peculiar color, and looked like a bank of fog. The building was of frame construction. The first floor was used as the meat market, and the upper floor as a residence. Ira Bryant and family had resided in the flat, but ten days ago they moved out. Since then, the rooms have been vacant. The fire was on the second floor, and the flames were bursting through the roof when the department arrived. Three heavy streams were soon playing on the building, but the flood of water did not seem to have much effect. Regardless of the thick smoke, the firemen pushed into the flaming building, and attacked the flames from all sides. When they got inside, the odor of kerosene could be plainly distinguished and the reason of the stubbornness of the flames was explained. The flood of water soon had an effect, however, and at 2:45 the "out" signal was struck.

Find Oil Can and Rags.

Chief Spencer now has in his possession, a five gallon kerosene can, and a lot of the oil soaked rags used by the incendiary. Holes had been broken in the plaster on both sides of the dining room, and rags soaked in the kerosene crammed into them. The match was then applied. When the rags began to burn, flaming pieces fell down between the walls along the studding, and fire ran up to the roof in the same channel. In this way the entire building was ignited, and that the department saved any part of it seems almost wonderful, as the flames were hard to reach.

But this was not all.

The fire bug seemed to be bent on making a thorough job of it, and was not satisfied with setting fire to the rags in the hole in the wall. As the firemen felt their way around in the smoke, they found a small closet opening off of the dining room.

Wash Tub Full of Material.

In this closet was found a wash tub, filled with oil and rags, which were burning rapidly. The oil-fed flames were hard to control, but when they were finally extinguished, the firemen made quick work of squelching the blaze in the woodwork.

The fire bug had entered by the back stairway, and no one saw him come or go.

George Ercanbrack says he was at the market at 10:30 o'clock last night, to get his bicycle. At that time everything was all right, and there was no evidence of fire.

The roof and up stairs portion of the building were extensively damaged, while minor damage was done in the lower portion. The loss is fully covered by insurance, written by Carter & Haselton.

Chief Spencer has the evidence of the work of an incendiary, and the matter will probably be sifted to the bottom.

ROBERT M'MILLEN IS DEAD

Mrs. P. L. Myers Was His Adopted Daughter—Was Worth $500,000.

Robert McMillen, a prominent resident of Oshkosh, and one of the best known lumbermen in the northwest, died Saturday after a lingering illness of several months. Mr. McMillen was born near Lake George, Warren county, N. Y., September 26, 1830, and came to Wisconsin in 1844, locating at what is now Oshkosh. A few years later he engaged in the lumber business, and was successful in building up a good sized fortune, variously estimated at from $500,000 to $1,000,000. He was president of the Fox River Paper company at Appleton, a trustee of Lawrence university and a director of the National bank of Oshkosh. He leaves a wife and two adopted children, Robert McMillen, Jr., and Mrs. Jessie Myers, the latter being the wife of P. L. Myers.

ONE DAY'S BUSINESS IN JUSTICE HALLS

BOTH THE COURTS HEARD CASES TODAY.

Police Have a Free For All Dragging Match With One Bray, Who Defied Them—Heyer Case Is At An End—Piano Case Adjourned—Circuit Court News.

Henry Bray was the whole thing on South High street last night as the church bells were calling worshippers together. During the afternoon the idea had been slowly formulating in Bray's not over clear brain, through the valuable aid of copious potions of red light, purchased, of course, on Saturday night, that he constituted the sovereignty. Hogan, Appleby, Brown, et al., to the contrary notwithstanding. When the idea got complete hold of him, as it did just before the officers arrived he proceeded to turn a quiet Janesville Sunday into a spasm. When arrested he submitted, and after traveling a short distance toward the jail "made a stand" in which he struck, it is said, and otherwise resisted an officer. He was finally locked up. Those who witnessed the arrest say that Chief Hogan and the police are deserving of great praise for the admirable way in which they kept their tempers in check after being struck by Bray. Chief Hogan refrained from striking his prisoner when such action would have seemed justifiable.

Bray must have had a great thirst today. The officers gave him all day to cultivate a liking for cold water and incidentally opportunity to meditate in the fleeting nature of cheap notoriety, and the persuasiveness of the "come-alongs." He was brought before Judge Phelps about 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. It is understood that his friends will endeavor to have him plead guilty, whereupon and on condition that he leave the city, they will pay his fine.

The minute he was arrested his fighting blood began to boil, and from that time until he was landed in jail, he gave the officers a merry battle. It required the efforts of four officers to escort him to the lock-up, as they did not wish to hurt him. He was pushed, pulled, hauled, rolled, dragged, and carried to the bastille, and repented at his leisure in a cell.

A fine of $5 and costs was imposed. Heyer Drops the Case.

Fred Heyer was less anxious for revenge this morning than on last Friday noon when he appeared in the municipal court with his head out, looking for a warrant for the arrest of Wallace Tuffa. At least it is a fair inference that he has cooled off over Sunday as his wife stepped up to the bar of justice this morning and secured a discontinuation of the action by the payment of costs thus far incurred. That is to say the case will be discontinued on Wednesday when it is called.

S. M. Smith has been appointed by Judge Phelps to defend Jack Hess charged with burglary.

In the case of the city against Arnold Somylo, the piano merchant, involving some $160, which the city claims as a transient license fee, a continuance of one week to Aug. 2 was granted by Judge Phelps. Horace McElroy, city attorney appeared for the city and Fethers, Jeffries, Fidelity & Mounat for the defendant.

Amend the Paper.

In the case of Mary N. Burnham vs. J. W. Norton, Judge Bennett of the circuit court ordered that I. C. Brownell, as administrator of the estate of Polena A. Hills, deceased, be made a party defendant in this action, and that the summons and complaint in said action be amended accordingly.

A Foreclosure Judgment.

A foreclosure judgment was rendered Saturday in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Martha A. Moon vs. Thomas Rooney et al in the sum of $744.21 damages, 325 solicitors fees, and $70.63 costs.

W. B. Conrad Gets $556.90.

W. B. Conrad received judgment today in the sum of $556.99 damages and costs taxed at $12.45 against George N. Van Ets et al.

Why E. C. Goddard Cut His Visit in This City Short.

When E. C. Goddard and wife arrived in the city but a few days ago from Phoenix, Arizona, to visit Mr. and Mrs. Michael Murphy, two miles south of the city, it was their intention to make a lengthy stay. Mr. Goddard is a mine prospector and stock buyer, but when the startling news came from the gold regions of Alaska, it was just a little more than he could stand, and yesterday they bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, taking their departure from this city last evening for San Francisco. From that city they expect to leave for Alaska. Before their departure Mr. Goddard purchased a supply of heavy woollens, besides several other articles which he expects to take into the country of icebergs.

SHELLS ALL RIGHT AN EXPERT SAYS

L. STROSS OF NEW YORK, INVESTIGATES THE MATTER

Says Rock River Product Ranks Above the Average, and That They Are Valuable—Leaves An Order For Samples and Will Write of His Conclusions Later.

The clam market has received another lift, and the hunters along the banks of Rock river will hold on to their present stock of shells rather than sacrifice them at low prices. There are other buyers in the local market aside from Mr. Marsh and his firm, and the present prospects are that the clam hunting industry has received another boom.

A New York pearl button expert spent the morning in the city, having come here for no other purpose than to investigate the quality of the Rock river clam shells. He says they are above the average, and valuable. The new comer is L. Stross of New York City, and he was at the Hotel Myers while here. Early this morning Mr. Stross looked up Richard F. Finley, the local receiving agent, and said to was the agent of a well known New York pearl button firm. Mr. Stross said he was here to investigate, and examine into the quality of clams that are being found in Rock river in the vicinity of this city, so that he might make a report to his New York firm.

Says Shells Are Good.

At 10:30 o'clock Mr. Stross accompanied by Agent Finley paid a visit to the storage house on North Main street where they viewed the one hundred tons of shells that are stored beneath its sheltering roof. Mr. Stross expressed himself as being well satisfied as to the quality of the shells, and pronounced them as being above the average as far as their being fit for the manufacture of pearl buttons. Each one of these shells will produce six buttons of a good quality and of the regulation size.

This noon Mr. Stross notified his firm of his investigation, and before his departure he arranged to secure a new lot of samples that are to be forwarded to the New York factory so that the inspectors may pass upon them. Further word is expected within the next few days, and if the report is satisfactory, it will mean the distribution of plenty of money among the clam hunters who now have on hand shells in thousand pound lots.

Thus, it would appear, that the shells are all right after all, and that much money will flow into Rock county in consequence.

PETER RICKET'S HERO.

By KATE JORDAN.

"Have you a profession?" asked Peter. "Your appearance bespeaks the artist."

"I have no profession," he said, dropping his lids. When he looked up again, there was an aroused expression in his eyes, which deepened as he spoke. "But I have a quest which I can never forsake, an idea which overpowers all others, a longing which pursues me night and day, a fixed purpose which scorches my heart like a hot iron, a secret hope which I calculate upon and dream over. Ah, Peter, you know not what it means to have loved a woman better than your life, do you? Nay, you are too young. You know not what it is to—"

The Hindoo suddenly laid his hand with a soft deliberateness upon his master's shoulder.

The Hindoo suddenly laid his hand upon his master's shoulder.

ter's shoulder. The expression of waiting had gone from his brown face, and over it flashed a glow like fire upon ice. He smiled, and the cold satisfaction of that smile was a deadly menace. Peter drew back, a chill in his blood.

"Look, sahib, who stands yonder, the light of the fire upon him?" he whispered, crouching behind Wayling so that only the top of his turban could be seen.

CHAPTER II.

Wayling bent his head eagerly forward, and a dark flush stole over his face as if he were struggling with suffocation. He started to his feet, but at the words, "Patience, sahib," from the Hindoo he fell back into his seat shuddering violently, with a countenance like a dead man's.

Peter wonderingly turned his head and saw standing beside the fire a rakish, half tipsy fellow. His clothes, of fine material, were stained and torn at the seams, and his general appearance was that of a well born rake reduced to his last shilling. He held a tankard of ale half way to his lips as he boisterously demanded a song from the player.

"Tune up, tune up!" he cried, with a swagger. "You're growing wheezy—aye, wheezy; 'twas my word. We want none of your doleful ditties. Hark, now, I'll sing a song for you. I learned it in England when I was sweethearting."

"Once did I waking spend the night
And tell how many minutes move,
Once did I wishing waste the day,
And then I was in love."

"Once did I sonnet to my saint,
My soul in numbers move,
Once did I tell a thousand lies,
And then I was in love."

"Once in my ear did dangle hang
A little turtle dove,
Once, in a word, I was a fool,
And then I was in love."

"How many fools among you?" he cried to the young gallants who had gathered round him, and soon their impudent gibes and laughter resounded through the place.

"I never before saw Edward Cantley even half way sober," said Peter, looking mystified at his companions.

"And you know him?" asked Wayling in a harsh, excited whisper.

"Not as a friend. He was always about the playhouse, but this month past he has been in Boston, squandering his last shilling, no doubt. He often asked me to the coffee house with him, but I never agreed. In faith, he is well nigh a pauper and an evil fellow to boot. 'Tis not good for one's reputation to hold much converse with him."

"Did he come to your lodging to-night?" said Wayling eagerly. "Let that be your first duty as my friend and secretary. I must see that man for a half hour tonight. Will you do this for me?"

Peter hesitated. The expression on the Hindoo's face made him suspicious of treachery.

"There is some mystery here. What may your reasons be for this strange request? What will you say—would do?" asked Peter, very much troubled and looking from one to the other.

"Tonight you shall know all, I promise you. Will you consent? If not, the present time will suit my purpose as well." And he half rose from his seat.

Peter hesitated only a second longer. He found it impossible to resist Wayling's look and tone. After an inward struggle he gave the desired promise, though he feared—the scarce knew what.

When Cantley had finished his third tankard of ale, he left the place.

"Follow him, Rao," whispered Wayling to the Hindoo. "Mark where he lives, but be careful he does not catch a glimpse of you."

The Hindoo obeyed with alacrity, and for some moments after his departure his master remained buried in thought, an expression of pain deepening around his mouth. He lifted his head, and meeting Peter's pitying eyes grasped his hand firmly in silence.

"Is there no way I can help you?" asked Peter.

"None. Oh, the sight of that man has resurrected my past," he said, staggering to his feet. "Let us go out into the air, or I shall stifle."

In another moment they were on the street.

"There are you going now, Peter?" Wayling asked when they had walked a short way in silence.

"The play begins at half an hour after 6. It wants a quarter to the hour I shall be just in time."

"Why need you go there? You have done with a player's life. Come, walk about the town with me and let us talk."

"Nay, I cannot," said Peter gently. "There is no one to fill my place in the play. But if you desire it I will give notice of my leaving tonight."

"Be sure you do and make also all due arrangements at your lodging house for a hasty departure," said Wayling, with ominous emphasis. "We must sail from New York on the first vessel outward bound. One leaves for England at dawn."

They arrived at the door of the theater on Nassau street.

"At what hour tonight will you be ready for my visit?" asked Wayling.

"At 11 precisely. Do not knock. Throw a pebble against the window, and I will come down and admit you myself."

Wayling held out his hand.

"It may be on the morrow you will not take my hand. Perhaps I shall sail without you at dawn," he said, a pathetic wistfulness in his voice and face.

"And yet I know you will pity me, Peter—aye, even though you condemn. At 11 watch for me."

With an excited, troubled heart Peter watched him go down the street until the darkness swallowed him.

"What strange things do his words forecast?" he mused. "I hope nothing ill will come of this. Yet I feel I will witness a scene tonight I may not soon forget. Ah, why did I consent? I know not to what evil doing I have pledged myself. Ecce, I'll run after him and tell him I cannot agree to blindly follow his wishes. But no," he muttered, turning back again, "let come what may. It is too late now. I shall keep my word."

At 11 o'clock Pearl street was as silent as a street in a deserted town. Nothing could be heard but the distant cry of the rattle watch as they told the hour. An occasional light burned in an upper window, but for the most part all good New Yorkers were asleep. The sky was yellow, the moon floating above the dormer windows peeped forlornly from a mist, and a dampness had crept into the air which foreboded a storm.

The Hindoo and his master walked almost noiselessly along until they stood before Peter's house. In an upper window the curtain was drawn aside, and a candle burned on the window sill.

"Give the signal, Rao," directed Wayling.

The Hindoo picked up a fragment of stone and threw it against the window. It struck the glass clearly, faintly, like the tick of a clock. They saw Peter peer down for a second, very pale and anxious, and in a few moments he softly opened the door.

"Has he come?" whispered Wayling as they entered the hall.

"Aye, but one word in your ear. He is drunk and at his mercy. Promise there will be no violence done here to-night."

"No violence," Wayling whispered back, motioning to the Hindoo to ascend the stairs. "He shall die painlessly. That is more than he deserved, but die he shall."

"What are you saying, man? What mean you?" asked Peter aghast.

"That he must die. Not here, if you refuse, then on the street—tonight—tomorrow! What matters time or place so that it be soon—soon? Come, let us hasten. We waste time."

"Ah, I have been bitterly deceived by you," said Peter in a hot whisper, and this disappointment in his hero hurt him almost as much as the terror of the mysterious something he was about to witness. "You have trapped me into a vile plot against a man's life, and I thought you—well, no matter what. I was a fool. But I swear you cannot make me a party to this murder, a prearranged, revolting, cold blooded murder! I would rather cut off my right hand than serve your ends, sir. I will arouse the house."

"Peter, hearken to me. You will not do so," said the other softly, laying his hand upon the lad's shoulder and looking deeply into his eyes. "This man has wronged me to an amount beyond your power of calculation. I ask you only to hear what I shall say. I only ask you that. If afterward you desire Cantley to go free, not a finger shall be laid upon him while under your roof. Think you I could look you in your eyes and speak falsely? Trust me."

The hand pressed more firmly on Peter's shoulder, and he suffered himself to be half led to the stairs, which he ascended like one in a dream. Upon the first landing the Hindoo waited for them. His face was set with quiet determination, and his eyes were like brilliant. Without a word they filed up the narrow stairway to the poor little room next the sky, where Peter studied his parts, wrote his sonnets and dreamed his dreams.

Cantley lay sleeping upon a chintz covered couch set against the opposite wall. He breathed heavily. His face was darkly flushed, his head thrown back, his waistcoat partially unbuttoned, showing his throat.

"Asleep!" exclaimed Wayling, advancing to his side, his face paling and contracting as he gazed upon him.

"And he can sleep in tranquillity. 'Tis a pity to disturb him, but our time is short, our business pressing. Awake!"

And he shook him forcibly by the shoulders.

"Eh? Eh? What now? Don't bother, Peter. Let me be," was the sullen, sleepy answer.

"Edward Cantley, there is one here wants to speak to you. Sit up. You have been sleeping too long, by far too long."

"Who speaks?" muttered the drunkard, starting into a sitting posture, a strange expression crossing his silly face. "Who speaks?" he whispered.

His eyes met Wayling's fastened upon him, and with a shrill scream he fell back against the wall, mumbling incoherent prayers, his arm raised as if to ward off a blow.

"He thinks me a specter born of his drunken stupor. We must arouse him. Fill yonder kit with water, Rao, and bathe his head with it," directed Wayling.

The Hindoo obeyed only too well. He drenched the unfortunate creature until he sputtered and gasped for breath and left him limp and exhausted, but thoroughly wide awake.

"You know me now?" asked Wayling, standing a few feet away, where the candlelight fell on his frosty hair.

Cantley helplessly nodded.

"You see, I am not dead. I have come out of the grave to find you."

"To—to—kill me?" gasped Cantley.

"Surely."

"And when? Not now. Oh, in the name of God, not now!"

"Aye, tonight."

Cantley sprang to his feet with a cry and made a lunge toward the door. He was swiftly intercepted by the Hindoo, who, winding his muscular brown arms around him, bore him back to the couch.

"Speak no word, make no sound," hissed the Hindoo, thrusting his hand into the folds of white cloth on his breast and drawing out what looked to Peter like a long, black darning needle having a jeweled hilt, its end tapering into a point as fine as a hair.

"What would you with that murderous weapon?" questioned Peter, advancing. "Put it back, I say."

"Let him be quiet, then," said the Hindoo coldly as he obeyed, taking a watchful position at the foot of the couch.

STATE OF WISCONSIN—CIRCUIT COURT

FOR ROCK COUNTY—Allen E. Rich and J. B. Leach, Plaintiffs, vs. Rock County Agricultural Society, Defendant.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an execution issued on a judgment in said action in favor of the above named plaintiffs and against the above named defendant, which judgment was entered on the 16th day of February, 1897, in the circuit court for Rock county for the sum of twenty-six hundred sixty-seven and 71-100 dollars and costs, the undersigned sheriff of Rock county, Wisconsin, will on Saturday, the 4th day of September, 1897, at 10 o'clock a. m., sell at public vendue at the east front door of the postoffice in the city of Janesville, in said county, the following described real estate, to-wit:

That certain piece of land being in the city of Janesville and known as part of the south west quarter of section thirty (30) town three (3) range thirteen (13) east described as follows:

Beginning at the northeast corner of said quarter section, running thence west on the north boundary line thereof 35.51-4-10 chains to the Judge Whiton land so called; thence south on the easterly line of said Judge Whiton land 15-30 chains; thence east and parallel to said northern boundary 23-93-7-10 chains; thence north easterly 12-47-3-4 chains to the east boundary of said section; thence north on said boundary 5-25-5-10 chains to place of beginning.

Also a part of the same quarter section bounded as follows: On the north by land above described; on the east by a line drawn parallel to the west line of said quarter section and 17-02 chains east therefrom on the south by the center of the Milwaukee road, on the west by a line drawn parallel to the west line of said quarter section and 12-67 chains east therefrom. Said tract having a unit of 1-45 chains, containing forty-seven (47) acres of land, or so much thereof as will be sufficient to satisfy said execution together with costs of sale.—Dated July 19th, 1897.

THEO. L. ACHESON, Sheriff of Rock County.

Reasons Why Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the Best.

1. Because it affords almost instant relief in case of pain in the stomach, colic and cholera morbus.

2. Because it is the only remedy that never fails in the most severe cases of dysentery and diarrhoea.

3. Because it is the only remedy that will cure chronic diarrhoea.

4. Because it is the only remedy that will prevent bilious colic.

5. Because it is the only remedy that will cure epidemic dysentery.

6. Because it is the only remedy that can always be depended upon in cases of cholera infantum.

7. Because it is the most prompt and most reliable medicine in use for bowel complaints.

8. Because it produces no bad results.

9. Because it is pleasant and safe to take.

10. Because it has saved the lives of more people than any other medicine in the world. The 25 and 50c sizes for sale at C. D. Stevens' pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

Last summer one of our grand-children was sick with a severe bowel trouble," says Mrs. E. Gregory, of Fredericktown, Mo. "Our doctor's remedy had failed, then we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which gave very speedy relief." For sale at C. D. Stevens' pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

You may hunt the world over and you will not find another medicine equal to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. It is pleasant, safe and reliable. For sale at C. D. Stevens' pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

IN INSOLVENCY.

CIRCUIT COURT—ROCK COUNTY—In the matter of the Insolvency of E. R. Inman, by whom a petition for a discharge from his debts, under chap. 179 of the revised statutes of Wisconsin, was filed on the 29th day of June, 1897.

To all whom it may concern:

Pursuant to an order made in the Circuit Court for Rock County, Wisconsin, dated June 28th, 1897, all creditors of E. R. Inman, of Janesville, Wisconsin, are required to show cause, if any they have, before said Court at the Court House in the city of Janesville, Rock County, Wisconsin, on the 20th day of September, 1897, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, or as soon thereafter as the matter of said petition can be heard, why said E. R. Inman should not be adjudged to be an insolvent debtor within the purview of Chapter 179 of the Revised Statutes of Wisconsin, and the several acts amendatory thereof, and why an assignment of the estate of E. R. Inman, such insolvent debtor, should not be made, and why he should not be discharged from his debts, and why such other and further order should not be made as shall be just and equitable in the premises.

"IT MAKES ME HUNGRY"

just to look at your store; everything is so nice and clean." We are proud of such words as those from our customers, and try to deserve them. Not a shelf in our store but is emptied once a week and carefully wiped --the shelf and everything on it. We began doing this so we could keep things looking nice and clean, but we find the arrangement a great help in keeping them nice and clean and fresh and tempting. Those words do add to the money value of things good to eat, don't they? But you will not find our prices any higher for the extra care we take. We get our advantage in the increase of trade.

Lovers End Their Lives.

New York, July 26.—Because they could not marry and be consistent Catholics, Patrick Sullivan and his pretty cousin, Annie Sullivan, killed themselves Sunday by inhaling gas in a West Chester hotel. Sullivan and his cousin had been engaged, but as they were within the limits of consanguinity their priest would not sanction their marriage.

Eight cents a dozen for strictly fresh eggs at Sanborn's.

Doolittle Near His End.

Providence, R. I., July 26.—Senator James R. Doolittle of Wisconsin, who is lying dangerously ill at the home of Dr. Burge, his son-in-law, at Pawtucket, is sinking rapidly and is not expected to survive the next twenty-four hours.

Peary Well on His Way.

Halifax, N. S., July 26.—The steamer Hope, after coaling at Campbellton, C. B., sailed at noon Saturday for the arctic regions with Lieutenant Peary and party on board.

Special For Today.....

Sample Parasols. Just in fresh. They won't last long are 200 at 89c.

Sample Parasols, being a maker's complete line; no two alike. Some of the newest creations of the season. The regular retail prices would be from $2.50 to $5, but we will let them out at $1.39, $1.69, $1.89. Plenty of sun shine before you—prepare for it.

More Shirt Waists The wonderful success of our Shirt Waist sale a short time ago prompted us to make additional purchases. We have done so and they are here (came Saturday noon.) One in particular is of heavy cotton rep, and is suited for fall wear; it would regularly be about $2, but goes in the great sale at 59c. Three other lines are of sheer materials with white collars and cuffs. All at the winning price—59c.

Boys' White Embroidered Blouses. Such as mothers have been in the habit of paying $1.75, $2 and $2.50 for. For ages 2, 3, 4 and 5, of white lawn, beautifully embroidered, wide sailor collar—just such as you all like but can seldom find—all clean and
